

"PUP" McWHORTER MAKING FIGHT FOR LIFE

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 11.—(AP) W. Franklin (Pup) McWhorter, former member of the Georgia Tech football eleven, who was shot through the chest early Monday morning in a battle with a patrolman, is making a stout fight for his life at Erlanger hospital and this morning physicians believed he had a 50-50 chance for recovery.

After a sinking spell yesterday afternoon a blood transfusion was decided upon, and a group of McWhorter's friends offered themselves for a blood test. Six were found suitable and one gave a pint of blood to the patient. After the operation McWhorter rallied, but later became weaker again.

Bob Barker, the patrolman, who was also wounded, was in a serious condition this morning, but physicians said he would recover.

Lewis Stuart, McWhorter's companion in the struggle, was released on $5,000 bond. His preliminary trial on charges of felonious assault, originally set for today, has been postponed to June 19.

HOOVER OIL POLICIES DRAW SENATE ATTACK

Cuttin Begins Assault by Challenging Right of Requa
To Prevent Vote.

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—An attack on President Hoover's oil conservation policy and the action of Mark L. Requa, chairman of the oil conference at Colorado Springs, in ruling out of order a resolution favoring rescinding of the executive order barring prospecting on public lands was launched today on the floor of the senate.

Senator Cuttin, republican, New Mexico, began the assault by challenging Requa's right to prevent discussion in the conference on any matter pertinent to the issues involved.

The challenge immediately drew from Senator King, democrat, Utah, a statement that the oil order was "one of the most important ever committed by any person." King was joined by Senator Bratton, democrat, New Mexico, who declared that the restrictive policy was an "injustice" to those who had money invested in oil lands.

King announced that he intended to urge the senate judiciary committee to take early action on his resolution proposing an investigation of the president's right to curtail oil production on the public lands.

Will Disregard Plan.

Both New Mexico senators asserted that Requa's announcement before the conference that he would urge "coercive governmental regulation" if the oil industry continued to overproduce would be "ineffective" as far as their state was concerned.

OIL CONFERENCE BEGINS STUDY.

Colorado Springs, Col., June 11.—(AP)—Troubled for two days by vigorous discussion of President Hoover's order barring public lands from oil prospecting, the governor's conference on oil conservation late today began actual consideration of the interstate compact designed to prevent overproduction and waste in the oil industry by controlling drilling and general oil development.

The official delegates to the conference, four governors and personal representatives of seven other governors, met in closed session to discuss with Mark L. Requa, chairman of the conference, the general outlines of the compact.

The views and ideas of every oil producing section of the United States have been presented from the platform. Mr. Requa's statement that he would urge coercive measures if the industry did not take advantage of the opportunity to co-operate was moderated and then brought under attack, and the atmosphere generally was declared full of highly controversial angles of the conservation problem.

FAIRBURN-ATLANTA ROAD SUSPENDS AFTER 20 YEARS

Fairburn, Ga., June 11.—(Special.) The Fairburn and Atlanta Railway company, chartered in 1911 and financed entirely with local capital, ceased operations today after having maintained an hourly schedule between Fairburn and College Park for nearly 20 years.

The railroad is 10.6 miles long and has furnished a means of transportation to local commuters.

The road paid 8 per cent dividends to its capital stock up until 1923 when bus competition strangled its existence. It has been operating at a loss since that time. Recently another bus line was started between Fairburn and Atlanta which made future operation of the interurban impossible. The road will be junked in the near future.

COAST OIL BLAZE DAMAGE REACHES FOUR MILLIONS

Los Angeles, June 11.—(AP)—Fire which broke out yesterday in the center of the Santa Fe Springs oil field 12 miles south of the burned uncontrolled today in two flowing wells. Ten derricks had been razed by the fire which caused damage estimated at $4,000,000.

Officials of the Rio Grande Petroleum Company were taking a roll call of employees to check rumors that a workman perished. A force of 400 fire fighters checked the spread of the conflagration.

The burning wells, Rhode No. 1 and McKoon No. 2, both on the McAdams lease, owned by Edward McAdams and O. H. Rhode, had a combined flow of 4,500 barrels of oil and 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

An unsuccessful attempt to shut down the wells was made by asbestos-lad workers who advanced to the flames with streams of water played upon them.

COMMUNIST HELD IN FATAL SHOOTING OF CAROLINA CHIEF

Johnson City, Tenn., June 11.—(AP) James A. Dombrosky, alleged communist leader, was arrested near Elizabethton late today, and is being held for Gastonia, N. C., officers in connection with the fatal shooting of the chief of police of Gastonia.

Four young men, said to be college students, were with Dombrosky at the time of his arrest, but the youths were not taken into custody. Dombrosky was traced by a package he had mailed at the Elizabethton postoffice. He was apprehended while coming from a wooded thicket to an automobile parked near the spot where the water main was broken during the recent labor troubles.

YOUNGEST UNIVERSITY HEAD OUTLINES PLANS

Chicago, June 11.—(AP)—Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, dean of the law school of Yale university, who will become, next September, the youngest president of a large university in this country, outlined today his educational beliefs before this year's graduating class at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Hutchins, who delivered the convocation address, will become president of the university at the opening of the fall term.

Deploing the belief that youths' mind should be settled and hardened to staid ideas and prejudices, he said: "My view of university training is to unsettle the minds of young men, to widen their horizons, to inflame their intellects. It is not a hardening, or settling process. Education is not to teach men facts, theories, or laws; it is not to reform them, or amuse them, or to make them expert technicians in any field; it is to teach them to think, to think straight if possible; but to think always for themselves."

Dr. Hutchins attacked parents who pamper their children, allowing them to go along without relying on themselves.

"These bodies have high ideals," he said. "They are organizations for mutual improvement. Their dues are lower than those of most colleges. It would seem plausible to suppose that one can get from them most of the things one gets at the university, if one goes to the university because it is the thing to do."

Industrial Writer Stresses Need of Better Roads To Keep Pace With Georgia's Growth

State Making Tremendous Steps Forward But Highways Must Be Improved at Once.

Dangerous failure of the people of Georgia and Alabama to recognize the need for good roads is stressed in an interview with Richard Wood Edmonds, member of the editorial staff of the Manufacturers' Record, who is making a three-week trip through the two states.

Mr. Edmonds expressed himself as impressed with the tremendous industrial growth of the two states, but, reverting to the highways, he declared the people of the two states will have to pay an increasingly large amount each year to drive cars and trucks over bad roads.

Highway financing conditions in Georgia especially have been conducted along a system that has hit the counties and run the state into huge indebtedness, he said.

Complete Interview.

Following is the interview with Mr. Edmonds: "In the three weeks' trip that I am completing in Georgia and Alabama I have been tremendously impressed by two salient facts. They are, first, the rapid industrial development under way in this section; and second, the dangerous failure of the people of this state to realize the great increase in highway traffic that is sure to come with the growth in industries. The highways of this state are inadequate for present traffic. The highway building program is declared by the special commission appointed by Governor Hardman to have run into a jam in which emergency measures are necessary. Industrial development will not wait for good roads, but the car and truck-owning public will have to pay a heavy price for driving more and more cars over bad roads."

"Atlanta, Chattanooga and Birmingham form the points of a triangle that lies at the heart of a district enormously rich in raw materials, and fortunate in low taxes and blessed with a satisfactory labor situation. The great industries of the nation have become intensely conscious of the advantages of this section, and every year numbers of the greatest business leaders of the nation, in driving to and from Florida or in course of visits to the section for other purposes, make quiet investigations of its adaptability for their expansion programs. Great and basic industries are coming in, but this state at least is failing to prepare for the increase in the traffic that must flow over its highways."

Huge Indebtedness.

"Up to the present Georgia has built the main state highways by largely borrowing from the counties, and the state's indebtedness to counties for this purpose now stands at or close to $25,000,000. The interest is being paid on these bonds, but the state is all, and the counties, already bonded up to their limit in order to provide this amount for the state, are unable to bond themselves further in order to continue the operation of the plan. This is the situation that, in the opinion of the special highway commission, constitutes an emergency as far as the state is concerned.

"Not only are the counties prevented from continuing with the plan of bonding themselves in order to lend the state money for the construction of state highways, but they are unable to build the county roads needed for traffic within the counties and to serve as feeders for the state highway system. Highway construction in the state, therefore, is facing a serious emergency.

"The present plan is popular with the thrifty because it masquerades under the name 'pay-as-you-go.' No system neither more misleading, nor more heavily on motorists, who are forced by its slowness to use bad highways, if it has finally landed the state in a jam that was inevitable, besides having rolled up a debt that is hard to realize because of the way it is scattered. Instead of creating one great bond issue to loan up like a mountain peak on the financial horizon, and to be paid off out of the savings possible from use of good highways as compared with use of bad ones, it has plastered the state with a ragged patchwork of tiny bond issues, one for each county, and all based upon a property tax, thereby limiting the ability of the counties alike to contribute further to state highways or to build their own secondary systems.

Borrowing Sound.

"The opponents of the highway bond issue overlook the fact that while indiscriminate borrowing is a ruinous, borrowing in order to avoid heavy waste may enable repayment of the loan out of a part of the savings effected, thus leaving a net profit in the hands of the people of the state. Such borrowing is the soundest of business, showing a cash balance of $20,499.86, which allows for $79,000 for items considered necessary expenses to be paid in the near future. A number of additional items listed as urgent requirements to complete various bond projects, was included in the statement and totaled more than $200,000.

Atlanta Masons To Hold Meeting
THIS AFTERNOON

Another "get-acquainted" meeting will be held at 12:30 o'clock today at the Wincoff hotel when the Atlanta Masonic Club holds its weekly meeting. George Eubanks will be in charge.

Few cars operate over the low type roads exclusively, however, and probably a majority of the cars in this state are used largely in cities. It would be more reasonable, therefore, to assume that of the three hundred and sixty-four thousand cars registered in Georgia, only 100,000 are used very much on bad roads, and that of these, all of them are operated partly on good roads. We can then assume that with proper paving of the state's highways and a reasonable system of secondary roads, the saving for these 100,000 cars would be nearer to 1 cent per mile than the extreme figure of 2.37 cents. For these 100,000 cars, if they averaged only 10,000 miles per year, the saving would be $100 per car, or a total of $10,000,000 per year.

Gas Tax Proposed.

"Under either plan, a gasoline tax of 5 cents per gallon has been proposed. Under the mis-called 'pay-as-you-go' plan, the highway revenue would be used partly to pay the interest on approximately $25,000,000 of county indebtedness, partly for maintenance of existing highways, the balance to be used for new construction—admittedly a very slow process of netting the state with adequate highways. Under the other plan, the money from bonds, as rapidly as it became available, would be used to retire the debts to the counties, thus enabling them to go ahead with the construction of their own sorely-needed secondary systems, and largely to build new state highways. This work could be pushed ahead as rapidly as the state highway department could be increased to take care of it, thereby giving the state not only an adequate system of trunk highways in the shortest possible time, but also providing the very necessary secondary systems within the counties to serve as lines of transportation off the main highways and as feeders to the latter. Under the second plan, roadbuilding could proceed from two to three times as rapidly all over the state. The gasoline tax would then be applied to the payment of interest and the retirement of the principal, the roads to be paid for literally out of the savings made possible by their use.

"To put the matter a little differently, whereas the state, through its county governments, is now burdened with an ad valorem tax of approximately $25,000,000 and thereby handicapped in the building of state highways and almost prevented from constructing the very necessary secondary systems within the counties to serve the burdensome $25,000,000 of county indebtedness would be transferred to the state government, where its retirement would cease to become a burden because, first, the gasoline tax would then be available for its retirement and, second, the motorists who pay the tax would be saving money, as contrasted with the present plan, by the use of better highways.

"Under the existing plan automobile owners of Georgia are paying a heavy tax for the use of bad roads in addition to the gasoline tax. Under the proposed plan, they would speedily be relieved of the bad roads tax, and would then have only the gasoline tax to pay."

ATLANTA KIWANIS CLUB CELEBRATES 11TH BIRTHDAY

The eleventh birthday of the Kiwanis Club was celebrated Tuesday at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel. A large birthday cake with eleven candles was placed on the president's table and Robert H. Jones, master of ceremonies, called out the names of the 10 past presidents. Either president or a representative of a past president answered his name and lighted a candle until all 11 were burning.

Among the speakers at the luncheon were Henry C. Heinz, George Eubanks, D. Knight, John Womack, Fred Sued, A. B. Lee and R. M. Callaway. Lawrence L. Gellerstedt was guest man of the day and was assisted by Arthur W. Falkenburg.

BLACK BIBLE CLASS VISITS J. L. MAYSON METHODIST GROUP

Eugene R. Black's trip to Europe, vacationing from his desk as governor of the federal reserve bank, has resulted indirectly in putting the James L. Mayson Bible class of Grace Methodist church more than 250 points ahead of James L. Key's class at the same church in the attendance contest which closes June 29. The contest committee disclosed Tuesday. The entire membership of the Twentieth Century Bible class, taught by Mr. Black at the First Baptist church, visited the Mayson class in a body Sunday, registering nearly 500 additional points. It was announced by W. M. Phares, superintendent of the adult department of Grace Sunday school.

ACTION POSTPONED ON TEXTBOOK CUT

Committee Unable To Reach Agreement on Proposed Reduction.

Action on the proposed reduction in the number of textbooks to be supplied children in the Atlanta public school system was postponed at a meeting of the board of education held Tuesday afternoon. This action was taken following a report by Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson that the textbook committee, of which she is chairman, had been unable to reach an agreement on the reduction in the list.

Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, in his report, stated that the book list, as originally presented by the school administration to the committee included only essential volumes, none of which could be omitted without affecting the course of study now outlined by the board for elementary and high schools. He said that the large number of textbooks, which may be adopted by the board next month, would not entail any increase in the annual expenditure for school books.

The board passed resolution allowing the use of school buildings during the summer by the Lutheran Daily Bible school and the United Hebrew school.

A report on the administration of school bond funds was offered by R. R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools, showing a cash balance of $20,499.86, which allows for $79,000 for items considered necessary expenses to be paid in the near future. A number of additional items listed as urgent requirements to complete various bond projects, was included in the statement and totaled more than $200,000.

MACON ARSON CASE PROBE IS POSTPONED

State Fire Marshal Ennis
Fails to Arrive for Quiz of Powers Blaze.

Macon, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Failure of Captain C. H. Ennis, Atlanta, state fire marshal, to appear here today delayed a Bibb county grand jury investigation of the burning four years ago of a house owned by Mrs. J. C. Powers 71, under indictment as an accessory before the fact in the slaying of James W. Parks, young Atlanta printer.

Solicitor General Charles H. Garrett yesterday announced that indictments charging arson probably would be asked against Mrs. Powers and Claude P. Burnham, 25-year-old Jacksonville printer, in connection with the destruction of the house.

Mr. Douglas Fragin today was appointed a member of defense counsel for Earl Manchester, penniless Michigan youth, who has confessed he slew Parks at the bidding of Mrs. Powers, Manchester declared.

Mrs. Powers promised him $10,000 of the $14,000 insurance she expected to collect.

Mr. Fragin succeeds Joyce F. Brock, appointed last week by Judge H. A. Matthews, of the Bibb county superior court. Mr. Brock told the court he does not practice criminal law.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 3

It was midnight as Tarzan strolled homeward by way of the narrow, forbidding precincts of the Rue Maule. Because it was very quiet and very dark, it reminded him of his beloved African jungle. But the police would tell you that in all Paris this is no street you should give a wider berth after dark.

As he proceeded through the dense shadows of the squalid tenements lining the dismal way, Tarzan was attracted by screams, then cries for help. The voice was a woman's. It came from the third floor opposite. Before the echo had died, Tarzan was bounding up the stairs to her rescue.

Behind a door, Tarzan heard again the same appeal that had lured him from the street. Another instant found him in the center of a dimly lighted room. A dirty oil-lamp cast its dull rays over a dozen repulsive figures. All but one were men, the other, a woman, crouched against a wall.

"Help, monsieur," she cried in a low voice to Tarzan, "they are killing me." He saw the crafty, evil faces of habitual criminals, and beheld with amazement two other things. One was a man sneaking stealthily from the room. It was Rokoff, his sworn enemy. The other thing was of more immediate interest.

Continued fair weather and still more temperatures of the slightly higher variety in the weather outlook for Atlanta today as foreseen by the local bureau.

A steadily mounting mercury Tuesday afternoon reached a maximum for the day of 84, after starting out at 62 in the early hours of the morning. Today's range will be a little above this, bureau officials think.

MONEY ALLOTTED FOR CONDEMNING OF VIADUCT SITE

Elimination of the offset where the Central avenue viaduct joins Ivy street at Decatur street was a step toward Tuesday following approval of the Atlanta bond commission of allocation of $60,000 for condemnation of the property needed, and $10,500 for start of work on the project.

The city will condemn a strip fronting 50 feet on Decatur street at the southeast corner and running to a point about 90 feet on Central avenue from the intersection. It is owned by John W. Grant.

Members of the commission also approved payment of $25,000 damage to the Connally building property incident to construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts; $2,500 for damages to the Alexander property.

A total of $12,500 for construction of a storm water sewer near Moreland avenue at the Goldsboro branch and $1,400 for the Moreland avenue storm water sewer also were approved.

The commission disapproved a paper calling for expenditure of $17,500 for damage to the Elijah A. Brown building, holding the amount excessive.

VALDOSTA TO PUT LID ON TENT SHOWS IN CITY LIMITS

Valdosta, Ga., June 11.—(Special).—After the first of next month tent theatrical companies, tent minstrels, skating rinks and similar amusements which use tents pitched on vacant lots will find tough sledding in Valdosta.

The legal department of the city has been asked to prepare for adoption an ordinance which will forbid any of these concerns from occupying a place within 300 feet of a church, theater, the courthouse, hotel, public school or public or private hospital.

In the past many of these concerns have visited Valdosta and in most instances have located near some one of the places mentioned, bringing forth many complaints. The ordinance will be offered at the July meeting of the council.

MRS. BRADY HAS GAINED 16 POUNDS; HEALTH REGAINED

Results From Sargon Proved One of the Greatest Surprises of Her Life, Says Macon Woman.

"A gain of sixteen pounds and the best health I have had in years is what the Sargon treatment brought me."

"I suffered twelve years with stomach trouble and indigestion. No matter how light my food was, such gases and pains would come on after eating that at times I felt like I simply couldn't stand them. Shortness of breath and choking sensations almost cut my breath off and nearly ran me frantic. I was frequently so dizzy I could hardly get about, and terrible headaches came on nearly every day and made life a perfect misery. And how my poor back pained me! I was bilious and sallow and badly constipated. I lost weight and was very nervous. My sleep was restless and broken, and during the day I was weak, tired and worried."

"I started the Sargon treatment, and nothing ever surprised me more than my quick and remarkable improvement. Before I had finished the first bottle I was eating anything I wanted without the least stomach trouble of any kind. Now, my nervousness is over. I get up mornings rested and refreshed, after a fine night's sleep, and am so strong and full of energy I feel like a different person. It is simply wonderful when I realize that my backache, headaches and, in fact, every ache and pain in my body is gone."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the finest laxative I ever took. They are not drastic and upsetting in the least, but they have ended my constipation and biliousness. My skin has cleared, I have gained sixteen pounds, and I am more than grateful for all this wonderful treatment has done for me."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Lena Brady, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of 467 Edgewood Ave., Macon.

Thousands of Atlanta people have taken advantage of the opportunity to personally consult the Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta St., where he is explaining the therapeutic action of this revolutionary new medicine to vast throngs daily. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

AUGUSTA WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH; MATE HELD

Daughter, Slightly Wounded,
Tells Police Shooting
Started After Quarrel.

Augusta, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Beland Starnes, 46, was shot to death tonight, and her daughter, Mrs. Feby Newman, was slightly injured when she went to her mother's assistance, by shots which police said were fired by Mrs. Starnes' husband.

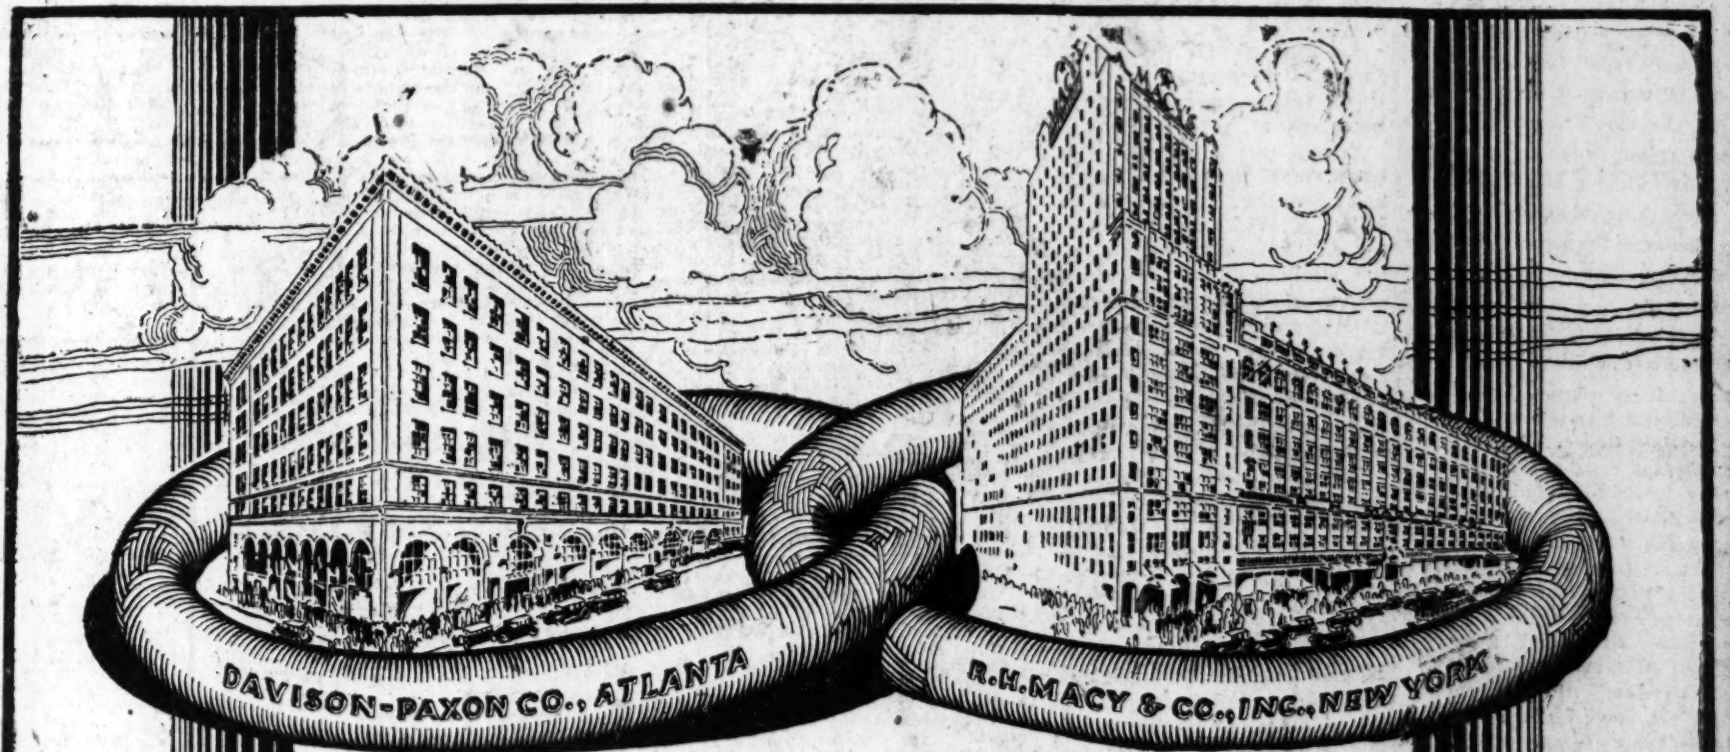

Starnes, a fruit peddler, surrendered to officers, but refused to discuss the shooting.

Mrs. Newman, who is Starnes' step-daughter, told officers that she was in the house with her mother when a quarrel started. Interceding for her mother, she said, she was attacked by her step-father, who fired at her as she ran from the house. In the backyard she heard other shots, she told officers, but did not know that her mother had been killed until told by the sheriff.

MISSOURIAN BECOMES MISSION BOARD HEAD

Dr. John Benjamin Lawrence Will Take Over Duties July 15.

Dr. John B. Lawrence, now general secretary of Baptist home mission work in Missouri will assume his duties as executive secretary of the Southern Baptist home mission board here July 15, the Rev. Louis D. Newton, vice president of the board, announced Tuesday.

Dr. Lawrence was unanimously elected to the position to succeed the retired Dr. R. D. Gray at the annual meeting of the board here last month but held up his acceptance until a few days ago, Mr. Newton said. One of Dr. Lawrence's requests in connection with his selection was that it not be announced until it had been definitely decided whether or not he would accept.

Dr. Lawrence came to Atlanta about 10 days ago and since that time has been surveying the general situation here. He is expected to return to Kansas City where he now has offices and prepare for his removal to Atlanta.

Dr. Lawrence is one of the best known mission workers in the Baptist church. He has been in field mission work for some years and prior to that time held a number of leading pastorates, including that of the First Baptist church of New Orleans.

When he takes over the duties here Dr. Lawrence will assume the work now being done by the Rev. Arthur J. Barton, who is to revert to his former position as office secretary of the board.

BATTLE TO BAR APARTMENT HOUSE IN CITY IS LOST

C. S. Noland and other citizens who sought to prevent a permit from being issued to R. U. Kitchens to build an apartment house in an Atlanta residential zone Tuesday lost their fight to obtain a review in superior court of the judgment of the board of zoning appeals, when the state court of appeals handed down a decision.

Noland, et al. appealed to the board of zoning appeals when Kitchens applied for the permit, but the board declined to grant the appeal. Noland then petitioned superior court for a writ of certiorari to review the judgment of the board of appeals, the superior court judge declined to sanction the writ, and appeal was made to the state court of appeals. Judgment was affirmed by the higher court.

EDISON CHAIN STORES SHOW GAIN IN SALES

Atlanta Financial and Business Circles Watch Growth of Shoe Stores.

Rapid increases in sales being made throughout the shoe store chain organization of the Edison brothers, stores, a million dollar corporation of local origin, has attracted wide attention in Atlanta financial and business circles.

The company largely owned and operated by five Edison brothers, all natives of Atlanta and widely known here, was listed on the exchange not long ago and has become one of the nation's outstanding shoe store chain organizations, maintaining several shoe shops in Atlanta, under the name of Chandler Shoe shops and Baker Shoe stores and having more than 20 stores functioning in principal cities throughout the country, particularly the south, including Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Louisville, Knoxville, Birmingham.

According to the latest report of the company, the first five months of the current year resulted in a net increase of sales of 29 per cent. The five months' receipts for 1935 were $1,425,864.50 as compared with $1,104,637.18 for the same period last year. The total estimated sales for this year are expected to exceed the $4,000,000 mark based on conservative computations. This is compared with last year's total of approximately $3,000,000.

The company plans to add from eight to ten new stores to the chain before the close of the year, it was reported. The latest addition to the chain was the Chandler Foot shop opened this past week in Kansas City, Missouri.

BRIDEGROOM GETS LONG SENTENCE FOR BOGUS CHECKS

H. J. Freeman, 31, arrested last month shortly after he had brought his bride of a few weeks to Atlanta, Tuesday entered a plea of guilty to uttering fictitious checks and was sentenced by Superior Judge G. H. Howard to serve from 7 to 14 years on the chain gang.

Freeman pleaded guilty to two indictments, the first which charged that he issued a bad check for $25 to A. R. Sanders, 15 Marietta street, and the second that he gave a worthless check for $30 to J. T. Layfield, 141 Marietta street. Freeman also was accused of having attempted to give an automobile dealer a worthless check for $1,550 in exchange for a motor car which it is said he planned to give his bride for a wedding present.

MOVE TO REINSTATE BANNED HIGHWAY MILEAGE STARTED

A bill to reinstate the 800 miles of highway taken off state highway mileage by the decision of the state supreme court some months ago as exceeding the authorized mileage, will be introduced in the general assembly by State Senator Cecil Neill, of Columbus, it was stated Tuesday at the capitol.

Under provisions of Senator Neill's proposed bill, the state highway mileage would be increased from 6,300 to 7,100 miles, the additional mileage to include the same roads put in the system by the state highway commission in excess of the 6,300 miles.

A great many counties have spent large sums in preparing the roads, which were expected to be in the system until the supreme court rendered its decision, it was said.

A. J. Evans, Jr., Returns.

A. J. Evans, Jr., of Fort Valley, marketing expert, who has just returned from a business trip to the Orient, was a visitor at the state capitol Tuesday. Mr. Evans called on an old friend, Leeman Anderson, chief clerk in the state department of agriculture.

HOWARD FULENWIDER IS FOUND SHOT DEAD

Coroner's Verdict of Suicide Follows Story of Ill Health.

Birmingham, Ala., June 11.—(AP)—Howard Fulenwider, 35, prominent Birmingham businessman, was found dead from a bullet wound in the temple in his rooms at a fashionable apartment hotel here today. Fulenwider was the fourth person to meet a violent death in Birmingham since yesterday morning.

Fulenwider's body was found by his mother, who made her home with him. She told coroner J. D. Russum she heard the fatal shot but did not connect it with her son. She said he had been in ill health. A brother, Leslie Fulenwider, of Atlanta, is here on a visit. The coroner issued a verdict of suicide.

In addition to his real estate business, Fulenwider operated automobile agencies in Decatur, Tuscaloosa and Atlanta.

Howard Fulenwider was well known in Atlanta as the owner and operator of a large Ford agency. It was understood that he had wide investment interests and that his business and financial condition were excellent.

Monday, June 17, Many to Enter For the Summer Term At the Southern Business College

High School and College Graduates Are Enrolling Every Day for the Southern's Training.

Thoroughness of preparation has done the work. High School and College graduates, as well as others, are making their way from all sections of the country to the Southern Shortland and Business University to be trained, skillfully trained, for commercial positions, because the Southern's reputation for efficiency has been widely established. Thoroughness of preparation is the key-note of the aim of the Southern. The business men know this fact and that is why they are employing the Southern's graduates.

The young people have learned this fact, and that is why most of them want to attend the Southern. Several of the students have gone to good positions since the last announcement. No school in the Southeast places as many young people in positions as the Southern.

The rates of tuition of the Southern are commensurate with the services given and the excellent facilities afforded, they are neither high nor low. No course given by any other business school in this state equals the Southern's, even though higher rates may be charged by some other schools with inferior facilities, much smaller teaching staffs and mediocre reputations in their respective localities.

W. R. Bridges, the Southern's representative, will call and give detailed information to those interested, but the Southern promises not to annoy prospects, as is being done by some of the institutions.

Put in your application now for enrollment during the week beginning Monday, June 17. Call, phone or write for catalog.

A Sweeping Success
because it offers Big Car Qualities for only $745

THUS far in 1929, the New Pontiac Big Six has attracted a volume of sales far surpassing the spectacular sales recorded for earlier Pontiac Sixes. The New Pontiac Big Six is a sweeping success—an even more pronounced success than its famous predecessors. And it owes its success largely to the fact that it offers big car qualities at low prices.

The New Pontiac Big Six has introduced a new standard of values into the low-priced field. There is big car luxury and comfort in its sturdy, skillfully designed Fisher bodies with their beautiful, long-wearing upholstery and their adjustable drivers' seats. Big car power, speed and acceleration are developed by its big, smooth engine equipped with a 1 1/4-inch carburetor. And big car safety is assured by its two separate braking systems—the emergency brake which operates on the transmission and noiseless four-wheel internal-expanding service brakes.

Oakland produced the Pontiac Big Six to enable progressive people to step up in motor car quality without leaving the low-priced field. And the very people for whom it was created have made it an impressive sales success.

DURING the first five months of 1929, sales of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes totaled over 151,000 as compared with 131,303 for the same period in 1928 and 79,286 for 1927. The New Oakland All-American Six has come to be known through the enthusiasm of its owners as the finest medium-priced car in America today.

Ed Hamm, Olympic Jumper, To Enter Stanford Summer School

STAR FEARED LOST TECH TRACK SQUAD

Broad Jump Ace Goes to Coast—May Not Return Here.

By Herb Clark.
What might be another one of those near-fatal soccer plexus blows to which Georgia Tech athletic fans are gradually becoming accustomed came with the announcement Tuesday of Ed Hamm that he will attend summer school at Leland Stanford University.

Plans beyond the date of the closing of the coast summer school are still in a vague and uncertain state, as Hamm said that two possibilities—a continued sojourn at Stanford or a return to the scene of his previous collegiate triumphs at Tech—existed, with the important decision still in the balance.

RECORD HOLDER.
Hamm is one of the best, if not the best, track men ever turned out on this side of the Mason-Dixon line. A great part of his fame rests on his ability to cover more ground in a single leap than any other human of the present and past. He is the world-record holder and has set his mark at 25 feet 11.8 inches. During the 1928 season, his last of active competition, due to an operation which rendered him unfit for track, he carried off first honors in every meet, which he entered, and as a member of the 1928 Olympic team he won the broad jump for the United States.

His prowess as a sprinter has not been so thoroughly bruited about, but is only slightly less valuable to a team than his activities in the jumping pit.

FAST SPRINT.
He is a consistent performer at near record time in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and has added many points to the Jackrabbit total during his career at the Flats. He was qualified to carry the American colors at the Olympics in the sprints, but was advised to remain in the broad jump. In a barnstorming tour of central Europe following the games at Amsterdam Hamm met and defeated the class of that section in several special short races.

Hamm returned to Tech last fall and seemed to be due for his best year. Appendicitis overtook him just before the opening of the new season, and an operation sent him from the track and later from school. He has spent the last few months working in Birmingham, and is now planning to come back to Tech in September.

With this change, which will take him to the west coast and into the nation's greatest track team, it is possible that Hamm will remain "here for the rest of his school days. He has made no definite commitments as yet, and is undecided as to his course during the coming school year.

Big Bill Wins Three Matches

Noordwijk, Holland, June 11.—(AP) Big Bill Tilden furnished the chief sensation of the tennis championships in the Dutch tennis championships today. He raced through three matches, two in the singles and one in the mixed doubles, without losing a game.

In the singles, the lanky Philadelphian disposed of Vanek and Kempton, of Holland, in three straight sets each. Then he met N. J. K. Kame, of Holland, to beat M. and Mrs. Kellerman Stotenaker, of Holland, 6-0, 6-0.

Tilden played practically faultless tennis, not only in the singles, but in the doubles as well. His three matches took him only 15 minutes in all.

Frank Hunter, the defending singles champion, played too stiff a game for Weber, a young Dutchman, and won in easy fashion, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3. Hunter dropped out of the mix, and his place was taken by Cecil Akers, decided not to participate in the tournament.

Bunions Leaders Finish in Tie

Calcutta, Cal., June 11.—(AP) Gino Lema, of Italy, won the 73d lap of the C. C. Polo derby today, running the 50-mile stretch between Algonquin, Mexico, and Calcutta, Cal., in 7:30:10.

John Gavazzi, of England, who holds first place in elapsed time; Johnny Sals, of Pennsylvania, who is second; and Sam Richmond, of New York, came into the control station here in a tie for second place. Their time, 8:16:55, failed to shake the margin held by Gavazzi over Sals of 55 minutes and 46 seconds.

Another triple tie resulted when Herbert Holman, of New York; M. B. McNamara, of Australia; and E. M. Crowley, of Clifton, N. J., came across the finish line here together for fifth place. Their time was 9:35:50.

The leaders:
1. Gino Lema, England, 7:30:10.
2. John Gavazzi, England, 8:27:43.
3. John Sals, Pennsylvania, 8:31:15.
4. Sam Richmond, New York, 8:31:15.
5. E. M. Crowley, Clifton, N. J., 8:35:50.
6. Herbert Holman, New York, 8:35:50.
7. M. B. McNamara, Australia, 8:35:50.

Chess Tourney.
Bradley Beach, N. J., June 11.—(AP) United News, Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, today won the international chess masters' tournament which has been in progress here for the past nine days.

Alekhine did not lose a game. Lajos Steiner, of Budapest was the loser.

Coaching.
Dominick James Torne, who played for New York and Toledo, is coaching the baseball team of George Washington High School, New York, from which he graduated in 1921.

Ed Hamm, Olympic jumper, who took part in the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam, will attend Stanford University this summer.

An old Hindu proverb puts it this way: "If hit him one thing, hit's another." How clearly is this illustrated in the latest bunch of ripe vegetables cast by the A. A. U. at the feet of George Simpson, of Ohio State, the "world's fastest human."

Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of that organization, says that Simpson's mark of 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash at the national collegiate track meet Saturday may not stand because Simpson used starting blocks.

Now, honestly, doesn't the old organization manifest a positive genius for galloping up on horseback at the last moment, bringing bad news? The A. A. U. owns and operates the largest wet blanket factory in the world and they give away one with nearly every great performance on the track, it seems.

Wooden Blocks.
These starting blocks: I learned from W. A. Alexander, Tech's coach, who saw Simpson set the record, just what some coaches think of them, and he showed me a sample set.

Starting blocks are just that—no springs are concealed anywhere. Starting blocks make it unnecessary to dig holes in the track, as is the custom now. Blocks merely give a firm brace for spikes; no firmer, however, than holes in the track.

According to the evidence in hand, blocks merely save the surface of the track from mutilation; in other words, a modern improvement. No evidence has been advanced that starting blocks gave Simpson a two-fifths of a second advantage.

Be Patient.
As the matter now stands, Simpson will not know definitely until the A. A. U. meets in November whether he has broken a world's record or not—and even then his mark could not stand unless the A. A. U. made the adoption of the starting block retroactive.

Inspection Needed.
To those on the outside reading the papers it seems that if the A. A. U. intends to really insure accuracy in athletic records it would have representatives on the scene to see that conditions are right in the first place.

The A. A. U. perhaps knew the national meet was to be held and that the boys were going to run a 100-yard dash. When such sprinters as Simpson, Bracey and Tolan are entered in the same race even an A. A. U. official might suspect that fairly good time would be made, and somebody competent should be there to oversee it.

Then there always is the matter of wind—and there is something in Biblical literature about the general run of folks knowing little about the wind and which way it blows. That always needs expert supervision.

Blundered.
It might also be pointed out that Simpson and his coach were tempting that province of Providence, delegates to the A. A. U. to patrol by using starting blocks until the instruments had been authorized. A little advice might have helped.

Runs Like Miller.
Simpson is an odd sort of sprinter. Coach Alexander says. He runs with the long stride of a distance runner.

He does not go into all the churning and gyrating that mark the movements of the usual sprinter.

News photographs of the finish of that race show Simpson finishing his record-breaking race (see No. 1) with a face grim, arms swinging normally.

Also Runs.
All the dark horses for the management of the Cracker club were left at the post Tuesday when Joe Engel, president-elect, arrived, and calmly announced that Your Uncle Wilbur Good would remain as the pilot.

Johnny Dobbs, Clyde Milan, Doc Frith and a couple of other fellows also ran while the silent, sea-faced man with the larynx bawling swung goss right on.

There seems to have been no argument about it. The announcement merely confirmed the statements made by Messrs. Griffith and Engel when they bought the club last week.

Git Out!
A news service in New Hampshire offers us a story to the effect that the wrestling match between Gus Sonnenberg and Dan Kolman in Griffin, Ga., March 21, was framed.

Now isn't that the height of something in journalism?

ENIGEL GIVES AMATEURS LIFT

HAL M'KENZIE HIGH GUN IN 750 TARGETS

Larry Grant, New Shooter, Wins Event at Peachtree Club Meet.

Hal McKenzie, who took practically all of the honors in the first day of the Peachtree Gun Club anniversary shoot Monday, continued his great shooting Tuesday, taking the Class A singles shoot, which was started on the opening day, and winning the Georgian trophy for high gun in the entire shoot of 750 targets.

McKenzie was a shade below the form showed Monday, but at that he finished fourth in the Peachtree Gun Club handicap of 100 mixed targets, and third in the open singles of 200 targets. In addition to this he was high gun for 400 16-yard targets with 385. The first event was the completion of the class singles registered shoot. Monday the first 100 of this match were shot, and yesterday the second 100 were finished, with Mrs. W. P. Andrews leading the field with a great 99. However, Hal McKenzie's 95 coupled with his 98 of Monday gave him the winning score in Class A of 193 hits. Mrs. Andrews was second high in the field with 191, and was first in Class B. In Class C, Joe Cothran seemed to be right and he shot an excellent 96 and 93 to total 189 for the Class. In other words, a modern improvement. No evidence has been advanced that starting blocks gave Simpson a two-fifths of a second advantage.

FLORIDIAN SCORES.
In the open singles championship match, staged later in the morning and the early afternoon, H. E. Johnson, of Gaines City, Fla., broke through for a win, scoring a fine 194, getting 97 on both 100's. Dr. H. N. Alford, an old standby of the local club, was only one behind him, with a 95 and a 98 to total 193. Hal McKenzie scored a 95 and 98 to place third, one behind Dr. Alford. J. L. Chipley, Mrs. W. P. Andrews, and Joe Cothran were only one behind each other, following the first three. Thus the first six in this event were only separated by one target each.

The final match of the entire shoot was the Peachtree Gun Club handicap, consisting of 100 targets, shot from 16 to 24 yards. This match served as a sort of dessert to two days of great competition.

Larry Grant, who has been shooting only about one year, turned in the marvelous score of 99 for the 100, getting three perfect 25's then missing only one out of the last 25, and scoring 80 in succession. Inasmuch as this is Mr. Grant's first year at the trapshooting game, it seems probable that he will show up well in the zone to be held later in the month. This mark in the handicap singles is the highest that ever has been turned in at the local club, and ties the state handicap title.

NOVICE STARS.
However, the runner-up place was won in an even more surprising manner. George Bond, who has been following the clay pigeons exactly six weeks, scored 97. This is even more spectacular when it is considered that this is the sixth time in his life that he has shot at the clays. H. E. Johnson, one of the most consistent shooters in the tournament, was third with a 96, missing one target in each 25. H. C. McKenzie hit 94 and H. N. Alford shot 93.

The longest run of the entire match was shot by Mrs. W. P. Andrews, one of the best women shooters in America, who broke 88 straight. She also had the best score hours. The 100 mixed targets, shot by Harry Somers Motor Company, to the high gun man on the 500 mixed targets, was won by McKenzie. He had his 500 targets, divided 285 out of 400 singles at 16 yards, and 91 out of 100 doubles at 16 yards.

McKenzie, who was also high in the 750 targets in the shoot, thus winning the Atlanta Georgian cup, was closely followed by H. E. Johnson, who had a total of 894. The 750. Mrs. Andrews, who had 865, and Dr. Alford close behind her with 851. Mrs. Andrews, who made far the best showing in the shoot for the ladies, was awarded a trophy.

HIGH PRO.
Lawrence Bowdon, of Atlanta, was awarded the trophy for high point man in the professional ranks. He was closely followed by Arthur Cusack, of Tampa, Fla. Johnson, the Florida invader, was awarded the trophy for placing the highest in the doubles, also he was third highest in the singles.

Golfers Kicking On Rate Change
Action will be taken this morning by the Municipal Golfers' Association on the recent change in rates to golfers, using the public courses which requires them to pay 25 cents each time they play nine holes instead of each time they pay 15 cents, which was the rate prevailing under previous rulings.

The tariff for the use of all amendments has been jumped to some extent, but while other prices have been jumped an average of 33 per cent, the greens fees have been doubled.

Neither Trammell Scott, president of the golf body, nor R. G. Parks, the secretary of the group, Rhedee scholar, had to play 19 holes to win his second round match. Joshua Crane's 18-inch putter was good enough to dispose of the titled Englishman, Lord Charles Hope, 4 to 1.

BAUGH WINS AT SANDWICH
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Sandwich, Eng., June 11.—(AP) While John Dawson, of Chicago, continued to wait for an opponent in the British amateur golf championship the first round of play was completed today and half the second round disposed of.

Two major upsets featured the eliminations when two members of the last British Walker cup team, Lord Charles Hope and Major C. D. Herlet, were defeated. Cyril Tolley and some other favorites had narrow escapes.

Six Americans remain in the competition. In addition to Dawson, Robert H. Raugh, Jr., Douglas Grant, Joshua Crane, Charles Sweeney remain as a result of victories today while Stuart Scheffel advanced when his opponent defaulted.

RAUGH WINS.
Duncan Anderson carried Grant to the 18th hole and Bobby Raugh, the Rhedee scholar, had to play 19 holes to win his second round match. Joshua Crane's 18-inch putter was good enough to dispose of the titled Englishman, Lord Charles Hope, 4 to 1.

Sidelights of Peachtree Anniversary Shoot

to right in the back row, J. A. Chipley, Greenwood, S. C., and W. H. Letton, of Atlanta. In the front row are L. H. Bowdon, Atlanta; H. E. Johnson, Gaines City, Fla.; Dr. Alford, H. R. Cothran, Atlanta; Dr. J. Q. Brantley, Atlanta, and Sam Donelson, Atlanta. Below are three women, all of Atlanta, Mrs. J. D. Jacobs, Mrs. Walter P. Andrews and Mrs. Frank Rogers.

CRACKERS LOSE IN FINAL, 10-0
Buckeye Is Chased From Mound by Sluggers of Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 11.—There was a little girl and she had a little curl right in the middle of her forehead, and when she was good she was very good, but when she was bad she was horrid.

If this little verse wasn't written about the Chattanooga Lookouts it should have been.

Today they looked all the part of a championship team in smashing the Atlanta Crackers, 10 to 0.

SANDLOTTERS.
The two days previously they had looked like a collection of so many sand-lotters in losing to the same foes, 16 to 6 and 9 to 6.

Johnny Singleton, veteran right-hander, returned to the Lookouts by the Mobile Bears after expiration of a 15-day option, held the Crackers to seven lowly bingles and when men were on base he lightened up like the proverbial Scotchman.

Tonight Vice President Richard and Manager Jimmy Johnston are making arrangements to send the Crackers to the Mobile Bears for a two-week stay in Beartown.

Ponderous Buckeye, the Atlanta leader of Huston flange, found his uniform when he came to Chattanooga. He was denied the pleasure of pitching Monday because he had no clothes. He is in the funny way that way. He insists that all the players in his circuit be properly dressed, regardless of their playing ability.

BUCKEYE SHELLED.
It would have been better for Mr. Buckeye if Messrs. Good and teammates hadn't gotten together and scrapped him up some diamond tags. Buckeye ran from the mound in lugubrious defeat in the fifth frame after he had been pummeled and founted for 11 hits and six runs. Brennan came rushing out and retired the Lookouts in snappy fashion but his brilliance faded between innings and he was touched for five hits and four runs in the three frames he worked thereafter.

A quartet of gentlemen ranging from the cleanup man down to the slugging chorus for the Lookouts, and they did it with three blows each. Vick, Wright, Treadaway and Dowling are the men in question.

Gridiron Cover Is Given Test

Demonstration of a gridiron "covercoat" at Grant field yesterday was witnessed by a number of prominent southern athletes of officials. They were the guests of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills company which manufactures the exhibited cover for football fields. Twelve sections cover a field and they can be handled by a small crew. The cover keeps the field dry for all games and has been successfully used by a number of universities. It covers the complete field, end zones and all, and costs only $7,000.

In addition to Coach W. A. Alexander and Kid Clay of Georgia Tech, there were James Sullivan, director of athletics at Texas A. & M.; C. W. Andrews, athletic official from Tulane; Coach Bohler, of Florida, and Coach Bachman, of Florida, were on hand to witness the demonstration. It was in charge of Philip Elias and H. R. Marbury.

MAT FEATURE SET TONIGHT

Paul Jones and Milo Steinborn Clash at Auditorium Annex.

Two wrestling matches, one a time-limit affair and the other the sensational feature with Paul Jones and Milo Steinborn in action, will be offered at the auditorium annex.

Jim Argus and Mike Adams, middleweights, will meet in the preliminary match. They are both experienced wrestlers and will meet in a 30-minute match. Both men are hustlers and will make an excellent opening for the fury that is to be seen when the huge, bear-hugging Steinborn attempts to catch the elusive Jones in the crushing hold that has decided so many matches.

McGrory, the matchmaker, will offer only these two bouts, knowing full well that the fans want to see the main bout and that the quicker it is offered the better.

After weeks of effort McGrory lauded the two bouts he is sure Atlanta fans want to see—Steinborn and Jones and Jimmy Loggins as an opponent for the winner.

London has definitely promised to continue on Second Sport Page.

SANDLOTTERS ARE INVITED TO WORK OUT

Cracker Owner Hopes To Pick Star Off Atlanta Lots.

By Ralph McGill.

Atlanta sandlotters who want a chance to break into organized baseball will find welcome on the doormat at the Cracker Park when Joe Engel takes charge.

Pitchers whose names fill the headlines after the Sunday School and Commercial leagues have played their Saturday rounds and outfielders who are clouting them far and wide will find the president-elect of the Crackers ready to take a look at their stuff.

Just about the second thing taken up by the young man who takes over the Crackers Friday night was the matter of broadcasting an invitation to Atlanta amateurs to come out.

MANY APPLICANTS.
"While in Washington I had letters from several of them asking that I come and look them over," he said. "Since arriving in Atlanta, I have been called on the telephone by managers of teams from steel mills, railroad offices and cotton mills asking me to have a look at their prize packages. I can't get around to that many diamonds."

"And I surely want to see those boys work. Invite them to come out to the park and let me see what they can do."

President Engel has not gossiped in the Washington office for nothing. It is a tradition there that Lou Blue, the great first-sacker now with the Browns, walked in one day right off the Washington sandlots and asked for a trial. They sent him out to Del Bissonette, of Georgetown university, got away from them. Art Devlin walked in and was scarcely noticed. So did Clark, the Britton outfielder. Experience has taught Joe Engel that all baseball stars come from amateur or college diamonds, and he has no idea of passing up any Atlanta talent.

"Nothing could do me any more good than to pick up a home-town player right out of one of the city leagues," Engel says.

Which puts the issue squarely up to the boys themselves.

GOOD TO STAY.
While announcement of Wilbur Good's retention as manager of the Cracker baseball club was the most important spot news announced Tuesday, of far more significance to baseball fans was the announcement of his plans for the future.

As outlined by the young baseball executive, who is said to be able to see a ball player in the rough better than any other man in baseball, the future of the Atlanta baseball club appears to be secure for as long as a competing team is concerned.

That seemed to be his idea as he talked over his club following his arrival Tuesday morning with Eddie Kynon, secretary and treasurer of the Washington club, who will remain here for two or three weeks putting the business end of the club, including concessions and swimming pool, in order.

Engel went briefly into the present club. It had been intimated that he would keep Good and he merely confirmed that. There was no new announcement. He expects to have some new players in the game Saturday, the first day under the Washington ownership. Others will come later. That much had been announced before he arrived.

WASHINGTON WAITERS.
As to methods, Washington has asked waivers on several players, probably five or six. Other players of the Washington club have also asked waivers. Those of the Senators, who are unclaimed, will be sent to Atlanta. If there are any Atlanta talent that can be obtained from other leagues they also will be sent to join the Crackers.

Engel got through with that quickly and went into his plans for the future. Possession of Engel is a very great asset. His ability to size up all players will be of immeasurable benefit.

"This league requires each team to carry at least five recruits," he said. "I will scout for those men. I do not care what it pays for them. I will buy five players who can go for the Crackers and who will develop for the Senators. I will not worry around with any $700 ball players. I never saw a $700 ball player who was worth any more than that. I will get five good rookies. There will be no makeshifts. They will be selected so that there will be little chance of their failing to go."

NO HI-JACKING.
There will be no hi-jacking of the Crackers, that for the calamity howler over the league who have been sorrowing over the fact that the Crackers were sold down the river to a major league club.

"Clark Griffith will not take away a player from the club in mid-season just because he might be a help to the Senators," he said. "This is to be an Atlanta ball club. It will be developed by the Crackers and will be no wrecking of the club in mid-season. Neither will we have to take cast-offs from that team," he declared.

Engel's plan also includes some personal scouting for the Crackers and for the Senators. In order to be able to accomplish this Engel will sign several baseball men who can look after the office while he is gone.

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN.
This plan, comprehensive in scope, not limited as to finances, directed by an intelligent baseball man and working with a major league organization, affords the best baseball opportunity imaginable. It does not, of course, guarantee a pennant. It does, however, practically guarantee that Atlanta will have a team always in the competition.

Engel plans to go into conference with the Senators.

Babe Ruth Leaves New York To Recover From Recent Illness

King of Swat Says He'll Be Back Soon

Two Small Boys Present Famous Slugger With Autographed Baseballs.

New York, June 11.—(United News.)—Babe Ruth, America's leading home run slugger and favorite baseball player, left New York today for a week of rest to recover from the cold that forced him out of the New York Yankees' line-up ten days ago.

Ruth carried golf clubs with him, and declared he was improving rapidly and predicted his return to the game within ten days.

The slugger, who has made a habit of visiting small boys in hospitals from time to time, presenting them with autographed baseballs, was a bit surprised when two small boys made their appearance at his apartment shortly before he left with 11 autographed balls for their idol.

The boys, who explained, were from boys injured in the recent panic at the Yankee stadium whom Ruth visited while in the hospital and who were sorry to know that Ruth was ill. The boys were Leon and Henry Geffner, of the Bronx.

Passenger Tossers Win by 6-3 Count

Gibson kept the Passenger department of the Southern railway's 10 hits well scattered, and the Stationery department won, 6 to 3, this afternoon in a well-played game. Gibson also aided his team at batting and base running. He collected three hits out of four times at bat and managed to steal three bases.

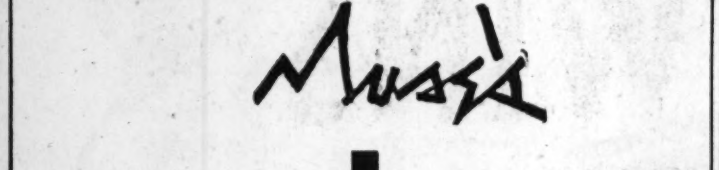

Moore, hurler for the Passengers, fanned nine men of the Stationery crew. Both pitchers gave up a base on balls.

GERMAN'S SUE HELEN WILLS

Tennis Player Charged With Patent Infringement.

London, June 11.—(AP)—With a gesture of unconcern, Helen Wills today denied that she was involved in a suit for a patent infringement in Germany centering about a special kind of eye shade.

"I've heard nothing about it," she said, "and it seems to me that if there were any really legal action I would be at least an interested party. I never saw a summons in Berlin, Paris or here. I believe this is just another of those things people like to cook up."

Miss Wills added that she had never invented an eye shade and that none had been given her name with her consent. She threw her hands in the air and looked very pained at a suggestion that she was responsible for the eye shade with a hair net attached.

"I'd never do anything like that," she exclaimed. "That would be an impossible combination."

SUMMONS TOSSED IN WASTE BASKET

Berlin, June 11.—(AP)—Helen Wills, America's tennis queen, has escaped what might have been a tedious court action simply by throwing her summons to the waste basket.

During her visit here a Cologne manufacturer named Huth had sued her for a patent infringement against Miss Wills in connection with a combined hair net and eye shade which the tennis star's representatives are said to have claimed she invented.

The summons to appear in court was received with several hundred other letters, principally from admirers. Miss Wills, pressed for time, threw them all without being opened into the waste basket, leaving for London before court officials sought her by telephone.

Fireman's Fund Defeats Cotton

Fireman's Fund defeated the Cotton Insurance Association Tuesday, 10 to 9, in the Insurance league. The score was tied in the fourth inning, but the Cotton men came from behind and scored one run to make it 8-11. In the eighth the Firemen opened up their big guns and scored four runs. The hitting of Dobbs, Bridges, Stovall and E. Mathes featured. Dobbs and Bridges made four out of five for the losers, and Dobbs made four runs. Mathes made three out of four for the winners.

"Dobbs" Norvell's pitching in the pinches was one of the things that helped the Firemen. Dobbs' fielding was good for the losers.

Ga.-Ala. League

Carrollton, Ga., June 11.—Carrollton strengthened its hold on first place by winning the second straight game from Gadsden here today, 8 to 3.

King pitched a good game for Gadsden, fanning nine and allowing only five hits up to the eighth inning. In this frame he weakened a base on balls. He was followed by a double by Holcomb and a successful home run by Rappentfield and Patton.

The champs pulled a fast triple play in the third inning, which sent Standfield to the plate. He fanned.

HALF-STRIDES.

Senior Paulino announces that while his jaw is testing the punch in Schmeling's right fist, he may decide at any moment to reverse the process in order to turn in a scientific report on the composition of Schmeling's jaw. There may be something in this from the viewpoint of scientific research.

"Qualifiers for the open will have to play full brassies and spoons to well trapped greens," says an exchange. Well, duffers have been doing that since golf began without drawing too much sympathy.

"What do you mean," asks L. G., "when you write that balance is motion, not a set, fixed position?" Just about that.

Walter Hagen likes a tough finish because he knows the other fellow is worrying about it more than he is. Which is no bad philosophy on which to build a competitive soul.

Babe Ruth had Lou Gehrig to beat last season in the home run race, but this season he has almost the entire casts from the National and American leagues.

Georges Carpentier ranks Tunney seventh among the fighters he fought. Gene should take this up with G. B. Shaw, who picked Carpentier to whip Dempsey.

Schmeling and Paulino meet on June 27, the date the United States open starts at Winged Foot. Neither will suffer as much punishment as the two who miss a two-foot putt or blows an extra in one of those Winged Foot caverns of sand.

Will Dempsey come back? It depends largely on what he has left behind.

A duffer who sliced out of bounds in one of his best-scoring rounds, said only one word: "Zounds."

"Is there any way to keep a golfer from talking about his game?" asks H. L. D. The best known system is to get the jump and talk about yours.

"If Horton Smith wins the United States open he can be made governor of Missouri," says a mid-western exchange. Who would want to be governor of any state who was good enough to win the open?

It would be interesting to get an interview from John L. Sullivan today, upon the selection of a German and a Spaniard to fill out the main right card of the year because they are the only two heavyweights around who will really fight.

Something seems to have happened to the clinch the Cubs were going to have with Hornsby to help in the National league race.

Besides, if we brought back the Davis cup from France this summer it would be all cluttered up with the odor of champagne, and that would never do in a country where you can't buy a drink. In more than 300,000 or 400,000 places.

One of the main things the average golfer wants to know about the proposed new ball is whether it will run through bunkers.

"Is driving, approaching or putting more important?" asks a reader. It depends largely on which one of them you are messing up that day.

The Stanford track team has proved for three years what a heavy handicap the invader faces who has to travel a long way from home. Something should be done about this to give the westerners an even chance.

The east now hasn't anything to worry over from the far west except the California crew.

A. A. U. SUSPENDS 2 GIRL CHAMPS

Misses Morelius and Meany Are Barred by Athletic Association.

New York, June 11.—(United News.)—Miss Martha Morelius, recognized as the women's swimming champion of the world, and Miss Helen Meany, twice Olympic diving champion, have been found guilty by the Amateur Athletic Union of participating in unauthorized swimming exhibitions at Miami, Fla., in January of this year.

An indefinite suspension imposed upon Miss Morelius on February 11 is continued, and she is declared ineligible to represent a metropolitan A. A. U. club and also ineligible for registration in this district.

Miss Meany, on the other hand, is declared to have been "guilty of such frequent and continuous violations of the A. A. U. rules as to render her ineligible to compete as an amateur athlete."

The Olympic diving champion is charged with having given repeated exhibitions at Miami, which were advertised and with having accompanied professional swimmers to Bermuda without A. A. U. permission. In the case of Miss Morelius, the charge is merely of having given an unsanctioned swimming exhibition with professional swimmers at Miami, and with having failed to prove herself a bona fide resident of the New York district.

Comstockery Wins Over Choice Field

Whitney Racer Graduates From Maiden Ranks With Thrilling Victory at Aqueduct.

By Orlo L. Robertson.

New York, June 11.—(AP)—Tossed into a field of choice runners with only 97 pounds in the saddle, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's Comstockery today graduated from the maiden ranks in the Queens County handicap as racing in the metropolitan area shifted to Aqueduct.

So unimpressive had been the past showings of the Whitney colt, which raced under the colors of the Green-tree stable, that he went into the mile gallop with the 11-highest package of any of the nine starters. But he needed a feather up to beat A. C. Schwartz's great four-year-old gelding, Sortie. As it was, only a head separated the two in the battle for the $3,850 winner's purse.

The results might easily have been reversed but for the masterful ride of S. Herbert. Coming into the stretch Herbert outleveled Sortie on Sortie to take the close decision with a driving finish. T. M. Cassidy's Mi Vida, the highly touted favorite, was third.

Windy City, F. M. Graham's candidate for the American Derby at Washington park Saturday, was much at home today on the muddy Chicksack track as he won a trial in which only three horses started. Windy City managed to beat J. R. Thompson, Jr., Minstrel to the wire by a head. Judge Hay, carrying the silks of C. W. Day, finished the heavy mile and one-eighth in 1:56.

Brown Flash, a five-year-old gelding, finished second.

Starting Blocks Cub-Tiger Game Of 1907 Recalled

Evers Tells of Inning in World Series Game Where Heroes and Goats Were Made.

By Johnny Evers,
Central Press Special Writer.

New York, June 11.—In nearly every great game, no matter whether it develops into an overtime battle or not, there is usually one particular inning where heroes are made and the fate of battle hangs in the balance.

There have been several instances in pennant races where the title to the flag hinged upon the result of a single game. And I shall always believe that the fate of a world's championship hinged upon the outcome of one short inning.

This was in that hard fought series between the Cubs and the Detroit Tigers in 1907, a series that many figure to have been an easy one for the National leaguers, but yet was a pretty tough proposition for us until we finally got the Tigers' goat. The Juncos were anything but easy in those days. They had sluggers like Cobb, Crawford, Rossman and others who had eluded their way through the American league ranks to a championship and, great as a team as the Cubs really were, Manager Frank Chance knew that we would have to show at our very best to keep the National league colors on top.

The Cubs won the opening contest though it took 12 innings and a wild heave to give us the verdict.

We had the edge over the Tigers when the series shifted to Detroit and we opened there on a bitterly cold day.

DONOVAN VS. BROWN.
The Tigers still believed that their chance of winning was good. For this game they had Wild Bill Donovan on the rubber while our old stand-by, Mordecai Brown, was down to do the hurrying for the Cubs. From the very start it developed into a red hot pitching duel, with Donovan and Brown burning the ball across the rubber so fast that the half dozen batsmen were unable to meet it. We got an early jump on our rivals and when the Tigers went to bat in the sixth were leading by the score of 1 to 0.

This sixth inning is the one I have in mind when I say that I believe it decided the title to the world's championship. Charlie O'Leary, now a coach for the Yankees and one of the cleverest base runners in the country at that time, opened up with a safe hit. Sam Crawford duplicated the drive, but the wonderful outfielding of Schulte and Hofman held O'Leary at second. At this point Ty Cobb, then the bright particular star of the American league and the terror of all pitchers, came to bat, and as Ty was just as likely to bust the ball as to bunt it, the Cub defense for a moment was considerably worried.

CONFERENCE.
Brown, Chance and Kling held a brief conference. It was decided that Ty would try and bunt the ball to advance the base runners and perhaps beat it out to break up any ball game the Tigers might be playing. The Cub pitcher concluded to match his brains against the Georgian's. This keen witted pitcher figured that Cobb would really be playing into our hands by laying the ball down, and he decided to make it easy for him.

Motioning for Steinfield, the third baseman, to play close to his bag, Brown served the ball up to Cobb, but gave him one right on the outside, scooped up the sphere and then tossed it to third for a forecourt on O'Leary, who had started with the pitch. The play proved a boomerang to the Tigers, who were exulting in anticipation of the Cub pitcher being batted from the rubber. And instead of having the bases loaded with nobody down they had men on first and second, one out and the most dreaded batter in the league safely out of the way.

We still had another dangerous man to dispose of. This was big Claude Rossman, a long distance hitter, and apt to break up any ball game at any time. But Brown bore down. He put everything he had on the ball, and then, while he was working on the batter Johnnie Kling came to our rescue with a perfect throw to second that caught old Sam Crawford flat-footed off the bag.

TWO DOWN.
It was two out now, Cobb fuming and fretting on first and Rossman determined to kill somebody. Brown soon had Claude in the hole for two strikes, and the Georgian Ponch, bound to get as far as second before the inning was over, made ready to steal.

Bless his old heart, next Sunday will be FATHER'S DAY

You know how daddies are—not less sentimental but more practical perhaps than younger fellows. Merely saying it with flowers won't fittingly express your affection or admiration for him.

The weight of family responsibilities has caused many dear old daddies to deny themselves the natty necktie, fancy shirts, spoochy socks and lots of other nice things they would gladly enjoy wearing.

We have prepared a bountiful layout of such things as daddy might call "extravagant luxuries," but just the same you know when he gets them how he will chuckle.

with Wilbur Good immediately on arrival. Some of the business will be carried on before that time. The Cracker team will arrive at noon Thursday. The waivers asked on the Washington players will expire at noon Thursday. Some of the Cracker squad must go to make room for the newcomers. Their identity will not be revealed before that time.

The double elimination tourney will be climaxed next Tuesday at 6:30 by a banquet at which medals will be awarded to the winners. "Shift" Boston will be toastmaster. The banquet will bring to a close the most successful tournament in the history of the event as sponsored by the Y. M. C. A.

chaser who used to wear a uniform furnished by the New Orleans Pelicans, took a double and two singles into himself. Wright did likewise. Treadaway made a carbon copy of the deed and Al Dowlin collected two two-baggers and a one-base blow.

SIXTEEN HITS.

Sixteen hits rained out over Andrews field during the parade of Lookout batters and seven of them fell for two bases. Those were the only extra base blows of the game.

Holt Milner, seeking to make amends for a bad throw which probably cost the locals a ball game Monday, brought joy to the hearts of a smallish audience with a pair of shoestring catches. He also collected one of those doubles of which the Lookouts were so fond.

Only in the second and third frames did the Crackers threaten, then "Shift" handcuffed them, as effectively as ever a man was handcuffed. Three hits in the second stanza failed to produce a tally. It looked worse in the third. With one away Marriot and Burruss each landed out stinging singles to center and left field, respectively. Then Johnny really showed what he had. Messers, Cullup and Lopez swatted with might and main but they came in contact only with thin air. They went down swinging and after that the veteran twirler was never in a hole.

meet the winner within two weeks after the match. McGorry hopes to land the bout for an earlier date.

Steinborn, perhaps the strongest man in America, knows little wrestling compared with Jones. His strength is so powerful that he can snap the ordinary hold as he does rope in his strength exhibitions. He has one very effective hold—a crushing body hold that will snap ribs if the victim does not surrender.

Jones, on the other hand, is one of the most skillful wrestlers in the game. He will match his skill against possibly the greatest strength in the world.

The matches will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Worst of All.

The sports season now closing is the worst in the history of Washington and Jefferson. In football and basketball the Presidents didn't have a single big victory to cheer.

Simpson Make Record, Says Trumbull

Simpson, Ohio Flyer, Never Talks of Self

Parents Have To Read Papers To Find Out What Famous Son Really Does.

Columbus, Ohio, June 11.—(AP)—George Simpson, the Ohio State flyer, who has just revised 23 years of sprinting records by running the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds, is so reticent about discussing himself that his parents are forced to read the newspapers in order to learn the details of his accomplishments.

As a child he was very frail, so his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Simpson, of Columbus, bought him all the athletic equipment he wanted, hoping he would improve his health. They planned wisely, as his epoch-making race in the national collegiate meet at Chicago Saturday bears witness.

George's ego has not flourished with his physique, however. When the nation's sporting spotlight shifted from Stagg field in Ohio to the modest Simpson home here in order to find what sort of a boy the Simpsons had reared, questions were told they probably knew more about George's track ability than his parents themselves.

"George never tells us about himself," Mrs. Simpson said. "He tells whether he won when he comes home from a meet, if we ask him, but he won't talk any further. I read the papers to find out. His father usually meets someone on the street who gives him the information."

There are many paradoxical angles to young Simpson's nature. He is nervous, and as high-strung as a three-year-old colt at the start of a race, never been known to break from his mark before the gun is fired. He never looks at the start of a race, but how lowly his competition. Although he has lost only three races all year has never been known to offer an alibi for a defeat.

Most paradoxical of all, however, is the fact that Simpson expected to break the 220-yard dash record if he broke any. He twice ran the 220-yard dash in 20.6 seconds this season, equalling the world record of Roland Locke.

Simpson has no superstitions of any sort. He had a "Brace company" prior to the national meet, however, saying if he "could forget Bracey" wasn't in that race, he'd win it without any trouble. As it was he won from the Rice institution flyer by a decisive margin.

Simpson weighs less than 150 pounds and is of only medium height. His performances have surprised many coaches and observers who expected the first "0.4 sprinter" to be a tall, heavy-set athlete since real strength as well as speed was needed to break the old record.

"Silver Bill" Stickney, the gallant old warrior, will remain a part of the Cracker organization. Dr. J. T. Selman will remain as secretary. Other members of the concession staff will be determined by Eddie Eynon, who will have the business in charge.

"All the ball players in Washington wanted to come down and be life-guarded at the swimming pool," said Engel. "I wanted to bring down Al Schacht and Nick Altrock for the opening," said Engel. "But Al was sick. He and Nick will be down later in the year."

Engel was enthusiastic about the Southern association. "I know President John D. Martin well," he said, "and think he is a fine official. I know the league pretty well and think it is the best minor league in baseball. That is why I am in it. I believe in the league and in Atlanta. I am going to move my home here from Hickman, Ky., where I have maintained my residence for a long time. Atlanta will be my home."

Clark Griffith will not be among those present Saturday. Business detained him in Washington.

Meanwhile plans are going forward to have a great crowd out Saturday to greet the new owners. Their first day will be the third game of the Little Rock series.

In discussing Good, Engel said that he intended to let Good remain as manager. "I do not think he had a fair trial here. He will get his trial for the remainder of the year. I could have had another manager, but wanted to be fair with Good. I believe he is capable and I understand the fans have not blamed him for the failure of this year's team. I believe it is the weakest Atlanta team I have ever seen and we will do something about it. There will be some new men here Saturday. There will be others later on."

and 2, and young Charles Sweeney revengeful defeats of his two kinsmen yesterday by downing C. H. Brickell, 6 and 4. Young Sweeney played great golf and was 6 up at the turn. He was three under 48 for his match.

Dawson makes his debut tomorrow with Dr. J. C. Macdonald as his opponent. The Chicago star will be equipped with a new set of wood clubs which clubmakers at Georges sat up late last night to finish. Dawson has been using 14 1-2 ounce clubs and his new ones weigh 15 ounces. He was out practicing with the new clubs today and got good results.

The great match in today's play was Tolley's struggle with William Sutton, the Cheshire artisan, who had his famous golfing opponent two down at the turn and fought him to the last hole before admitting defeat.

All other matches were deserted while the crowds watched these two men, who represent extremes in the English social scale, play their match.

Tolley, former Oxford team captain and player of international reputation, had a difficult task in defeating the workman from the West Cheshire club, where he has 20 youths of golfing talent allowed to play on the course in the evening for a few shillings a year.

No Action Taken On New Record

New York, June 11.—(AP)—No official action has been taken by the National Amateur Athletic Union upon the world's 100-yard record of 9.25 seconds, registered last Saturday at Chicago by George Simpson, of Ohio State, and none will be taken until the A. A. U. convention in November at St. Louis.

This was made clear today by Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., as a result of varying impressions of the union's attitude and because of unauthorized reports that Simpson's mark may be rejected because of the use of the new starting blocks at the N. C. A. A. championships.

Max Schmeling Row Is Revived

New York, June 11.—(United News)—Two developments today revived the dispute as to who shall manage Max Schmeling, German heavyweight.

The State Athletic Commission upheld Arthur Bulow's claim to be Schmeling's manager. It did this by approving a contract negotiated by him for Schmeling to fight Phil Scott, British champion, this summer under the auspices of Humbert Fugazy, promoter.

Just after this was done it was learned that Bulow, a week ago, wired Madison Square Garden threatening to obtain an injunction to prevent the milk fund fight which the Garden is promoting June 27 between Schmeling and Paulino Uzcudun.

The Garden is standing with Schmeling in his argument that Bulow is not his manager any more. Bulow's threat was referred to the Garden corporation's lawyers.

No man will be entitled to claim that he has run 100 yards faster than any other man or men ever ran it until he beats their time on a full distance measure without the aid of wind or slope.

YANKS DOING WELL.
If the Yankees keep up their present pace, Babe Ruth can take his time about getting back into the batting order. Seven victories in nine games played is doing pretty well.

The only thing which deeply annoys the New York team at present is that the Athletics refuse to listen to reason. Philadelphia is supposed to be due for a slump, but it is a long time coming. What difference does it make how fast you run if the fellow ahead of you has a Big start and runs just as fast as you do? That's the way the Yankees feel about the Mackmen.

Conviction of Mrs. Ed C. The other motion was for a new trial.

ONLY TWO SITES LEFT FOR NEW POSTOFFICE

Washington, June 11.—(Special.) As the result of a report made by Appraisal Engineer H. G. Ritchey to the treasury department, all but two sites for the new Atlanta postoffice have been practically eliminated from consideration.

These two, given precedence in the order named, are those offered by the Trust Company of Georgia and by the Throver estate. The first is bounded by Spring, Trinity, Forsyth and Garret streets and the second east of Spring and south of Hunter streets, fronting on Spring street.

The report, which is voluminous, gives the reasons on account of which the other 20-sid sites offered have been eliminated and in all probability will be followed by the department in the selection of a location for the new federal building.

With reference to the site offered by the Central of Georgia, which was originally selected by former Postmaster General John H. Bartlett and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Carl T. Schunemann, the Ritchey report states that the air rights offered are not satisfactory, the bid was not definite as to location and that the railroad company is "indifferent and independent" in regard to sale of the property for federal purposes. This site is north of the Terminal station on the west side of Spring street.

The price was another objection in this case, being $1,050,000, while but $450,000 has been appropriated for the purchase of the property.

The Trust Company of Georgia site, which is the first choice in the report, contains 121,150 square feet of ground and can be purchased for $446,905. It is stated, the original offer made by the company being $450,000, but this was cut to come within the appropriation.

Ritchey states that he would place the Throver property in the first position if the appropriation of the site could be increased to the sum of $500,000, which he states the owners will accept. This site contains 100,000 square feet and the original bid was $1,072,000.

Representative Leslie J. Steele, of the fifth Georgia district, conferred Tuesday with the treasury department officials in connection with the report and went over the entire ground of the matter. He is urging that prompt action be taken in order that actual construction on the building may be started as soon as possible.

A meeting of the public buildings commission which has charge of the selection will be held within the next few days, when a committee will be named to visit Atlanta and make the final decision. While there will be other members of this body, it is certain that Frank E. McMillin, chief of the postoffice department engineering staff, whose O. K. is necessary for the selection of all postoffice sites, will be one of those to make the trip.

MRS. VANDERGRIEF LOSES COURT FIGHT FOR COMPENSATION

Fulton superior court judgment setting aside an award of industrial compensation to Mrs. J. W. Vandergriff for the death of her husband was sustained Tuesday by the Georgia court of appeals. Vandergriff was drowned at East Lake on August 16, 1928. He was foreman for V. W. Shepard, a decorator, and Mrs. Vandergriff was given an award by Industrial Commissioner Hal M. Stanley, which action was upheld by the industrial commission. Superior court set the award aside on the ground that the evidence was not sufficient to show that Shepard employed regularly, 10 or more men in the same business, and that the evidence, therefore, failed to show that the industrial commission had jurisdiction.

Don't Rob Your Baby of Sunshine!

Give your baby sun baths daily in

Vanta The Original Sun Suit

Babies' bodies need sunshine. Every doctor, every nurse, every mother knows this. Babies kept away from the sun grow pale and sickly and puny, just like flowers and plants that do not get light.

Sunshine brings health. It cures many baby diseases and prevents many others. It builds strong bones, sturdy bodies that resist colds and other diseases. Nature's greatest medicine—sunlight—is free. Every baby can have sun baths whenever and wherever the sun shines. And VANTA, THE ORIGINAL SUN SUIT, lets sunlight into little bodies, protecting only where protection is needed.

Tiny arms, legs, shoulders, chest and particularly back and spine are left bare. The light, open mesh front gives just enough protection to the abdomen, training the child in modesty, but not shutting out the sun.

Start today to give your baby sun baths every day, in VANTA, THE ORIGINAL SUN SUIT. The prescription of a famous baby doctor telling you how, is in each Vanta Sun Suit. Watch the little body turn gradually to the healthy brown color and become the "picture of health."

VANTA, THE ORIGINAL SUN SUITS, are of cotton, for play, or wool, suitable to wear in water. You will love the brilliant California colors of red, dandelion, tangerine, light blue, dark blue, green or pure white. You will marvel at the softness of the fabric, the mother-like touches in finishing—all of superb Vanta Quality which mothers have known for years.

See the two new Vanta Sun Garments—VANTA SUN SHIRT, which easily pulls over the head when the sun hides behind a cloud, or a cool summer breeze springs up. It comes in cotton or wool to match the gay colors of the Sun Suit. VANTA SUN TAMP of net trimmed with tassel and band to match Sun Shirt and Sun Suit, completes the VANTA SUN ENSEMBLE—cute, chic, dainty—the delight of mother and baby. More sunshine for baby—less laundering for you. Sizes to 12 years.

VANTA ORIGINATORS

Vanta originated the Sun Suit as it has originated almost every new development in dressing of babies, including No Pins No Buttons Garments; Self Help Garments, that train babies to dress themselves; K-Band, cotton over shoulders but with a "touch of wool" over abdomen; Training Pantie that trains babies early in proper habits; Baby Best Hosiery. Vanta today means to millions of mothers, "Best for Babies."

ATLANTANS TO URGE NEW AIR MAIL LINE

Meeting Set at Washington
Today To Discuss Route to Fort Worth.

Washington, June 11.—(Special.)—A committee of four members, representing the city of Atlanta and the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, arrived here yesterday to protest against the change in the proposed transcontinental air route, through which Atlanta and other southern cities would be eliminated, and air mail carried from the east via Louisville and Kansas City.

The Atlanta men will be given a hearing Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock by Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover, in charge of air mails. While the outcome is hard to hazard it is believed that the Atlanta delegation believes that it has a good chance to obtain a reversal of the recent decision and have the southern route selected by the department.

A committee of prominent Atlantans will present before Postmaster General Glover today this city's claims to a place on the proposed air route through the south linking the east and west.

The committee of four was selected at a meeting of the Georgia chapter of the Aeronautical Association Monday in the office of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, and left for Washington Monday night.

Atlanta has not been included in the itinerary of the proposed route, which would pass through Georgia, touching Augusta, Macon and Columbus.

The Atlanta committee is as follows: Ellis B. Barrett, chairman of the aviation committee of city council; Ben S. Barker, executive vice-

RE MUS JOHNSON SLAYING SENTENCE UPHELD IN APPEAL

Conviction of Remus Johnson in Fulton superior court on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the death of G. W. Brown was affirmed Tuesday by the Georgia court of appeals.

Brown was shot by Johnson when, according to testimony in the case, Brown and his brother went to Johnson's home to get some whisky. Johnson was sentenced to serve from five to seven years.

Atlanta & Lowry Directors Declare Quarterly Profits

Directors of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank voted the regular quarterly dividend of 5 per cent at their June meeting Tuesday. The dividend is payable July 1 and will consist in distribution of $200,000 among stockholders of the bank.

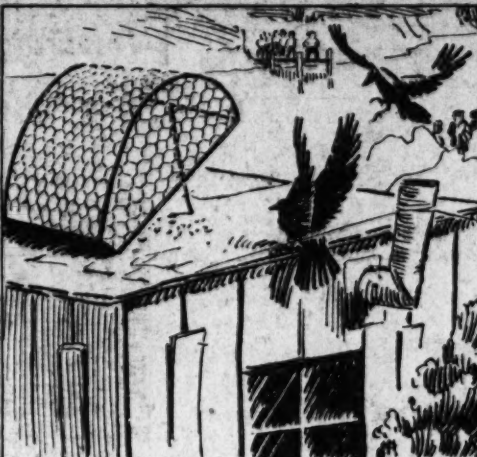

Net earnings of the large financial institution were reported to have set a new high record for the first quarter, revealing what is considered to be generally a good business outlook.

At a previous meeting the bank directors recommended a split up of stock on a 10 for 1 basis. This action is expected to be ratified at a special meeting of stockholders set for June 18.

The bank increased its dividend rate from 4 to 5 per cent last year, for quarterly dividends. The present rate represents payment of 20 per cent annually to stockholders in the bank.

FINAL EXAMS AND THEN VACATION! OH BOY! WE GOT OUT OF SCHOOL EARLY TODAY! IT BEING SO HOT WE HURRIED TO THE CLUBHOUSE. EVERYTHING LOOKS GREAT. WE SAW THE PELHAMS HIDING BEHIND SOME BUSHES ACROSS THE RIVER.

WE SAW A STRING HANGING FROM THE BUSHES AND STRETCHING TO A FUNNY LOOKING BOX. THE PELHAMS HAD ON THE ROOF OF THEIR SHACK. "BIRD TRAPS!" I SAID. SOME BLACK BIRDS WERE FLYING AROUND NEAR THE TRAP.

GOODNIGHT! LOOK AT ALL THE BIRDS THEY HAVE! THE BIRDS FLEW TO THE ROOF AND WALKED UNDER THE TRAP. BLAM! THE STRING WAS PULLED—THE BIRDS WERE CAUGHT. QUICK AS A JIFFY THE PELHAMS PUT THE BIRDS IN A CAGE AND SET THE TRAP AGAIN.

WE KNOW IT'S NOT RIGHT TO TRAP BIRDS LIKE THAT, AND WE OUGHT TO PUT A STOP TO IT! THAT MADE US MAD. WE SAID WE WOULDN'T STAND BY AND SEE THOSE PELHAMS CAGE UP WILD BIRDS. JERRY SAID, "LET'S TELL THE SHERIFF—" "SHERIFF NOTHING!" I SAID, "WE DON'T NEED THE SHERIFF TO TELL US WHAT TO DO!"

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

A QUEER PLACE FOR A NEST.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

With everything that's new they find some folk must have a change of mind.
—Mr. Wren.

Mr. Wren was quite out of patience. He was quite exasperated. He had worked hard and had filled two little houses with sticks and other material, such as Wrens like for the foundation of a nest. Now Jenny had informed him that his work was all for nothing. She had decided that they wouldn't use either of those houses. Do you wonder that Mr. Wren had lost patience?

Jenny didn't seem to mind. She flew over to Farmer Brown's house and when she didn't come back after some time, Mr. Wren went to look for her. "Have you found another house over here?" he demanded.

"Not exactly a house," replied Jenny, "but a place for a nest."
Mr. Wren looked around. "I don't see any place for a nest," said he. "You come with me," said Jenny. "I do love the unusual and this year our home will be one of the most unusual ones we have ever had. You come with me."

Mr. Wren immediately followed. He has learned through long experience that when Jenny has made up her mind to something, he may as well give in first as last. He knows she will have her way. So now he followed Jenny.

She flew to the shed back of Farmer Brown's house. Hanging from a nail just inside the shed was a bag and this bag was nearly, but not quite, filled with clothespins. There was a little opening into which Jenny promptly popped. Then she popped out again.

"This thing is already full of sticks," said she. "They are big sticks, but all we shall have to do is to add a few little sticks and then build the nest."

Of course, those "big sticks" were the clothespins. You see, Mother Brown's clothesline was stretched just outside the shed, so the clothespin bag was very handy.

"What do you think of this?" demanded Jenny.
"Not much," replied Mr. Wren. "Whoever heard of building a nest in such a place as that? And there over in the Old Orchard are two perfectly good houses, made especially for us, to judge by the size of the doorways. You must be joking when you say we are going to build a nest here."

"Tut, tut, tut, tut!" scolded Jenny. "The clothespins. You see, Mother Brown's clothesline was stretched just outside the shed, so the clothespin bag was very handy."

OUR CLUB — By Seckatary Hawkins

Growing interest in the exhibition of art work by children of Atlanta public schools, which was placed on display at the High Museum of Art Monday, is being shown by visitors to the museum, it was reported Tuesday.

The work will remain on exhibition until close of the National Education Association's convention here over the month-end. Miss Charlotte Smith, art supervisor of the schools, aided in arranging the display.

Three suits for damages totaling $110,000 were filed Tuesday in the Fulton superior court.

In one Mrs. Z. R. Wilson petitioned for $50,000 from the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention as operators of the Georgia Baptist hospital and Dr. W. E. Quillian for alleged burns Mrs. Wilson claims to have received while a patient under Dr. Quillian at the hospital.

In the second suit Mrs. Wilson's husband asks $10,000 damages from the Baptist executive committee and Dr. Quillian.

The third suit, filed in behalf of little Ann Watson, through her father, P. L. Watson, asks $50,000 from the Lane Drug Stores, Inc., and Lester Spurlin. The petition sets forth that the child was struck and seriously injured by a Lane truck, driven by Spurlin at Angier avenue and Glen Iris drive on February 28.

The Rev. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, will be the principal speaker at the annual flag exercises of the Improved Order of Red Men, at 160 Central avenue, Friday night, Fletcher W. Laird, George F. Barrett and E. B. Yancy comprise the committee on arrangements.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers on Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled too. Towards the end of the day he tells her that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his home on Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells her that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend her for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctor's colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she needs to need another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony, Rex, Joy and Geoffrey go to the south of France. Joy enjoys keeping house and Rex enjoys the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX. THE EPIC FLIGHT.

To begin with, Joy's note was the first Geoffrey had heard of her being even engaged again. . . . A day later he had heard more news about Miss Joy Harrison's marriage. This came from mutual friends of the Fords and of Dr. Rex Locke (that colossus of a man who had been Joy's part employer).

"Dr. Locke told us that it was all most romantic," gossiped the friends. "They had been secretly in love for ever so long. Dr. Travers and this girl who was working there for them. They'd kept it dark. Then, when he had this job offered in the south of France, they got married at once by special license and went tearing off. Rex Locke was best man. He said that he had never seen a prettier bride; but perhaps all best men have to say that; perhaps it's like tipping the bell fingers and kissing the bride?" these mutual friends had chattered, while the popular young author of The Trap had smilingly listened—rattled by uncertainty.

"In love for ever so long?"

Joy? With another man? Had he then so completely misread her? He went back to his memories of his wide-eyed, flushed, forward nymph, Joy, who had hung upon his every word and look? Joy, who, once drawing back from his hands, had suddenly, impetuously, dropped her head and caught Geoffrey's hand to her lips in that gesture of gratitude, of homage, not customary in the Englishwoman, since it is the gesture of the dark-skinned slave girl!

Completely dominated Joy had been devastated when he left her. And through all her letters to him, in Tahiti there had shone through the image of the young girl who waits, waits, sewing her bridal silks, planning her wedding, waiting for love's return.

Still, as he himself had written of a character in one of his stories: "Nothing equalled the completeness with which Alfie could give herself to love or friendship until it came to the completeness with which she could take herself away again and forget."

That (he had thought) looked rather well on the printed page; it was just . . . of the things one wrote, but had he summed up more shrewdly than he knew? Was it perhaps true of these susceptible, warm, whole-hearted lovers, full of vitality? Had he unconsciously drawn it from a model near him? Was it like Joy? And what about this Travers, the flying doctor whom she had married?

"I must see him. See them together. Once I know for certain what is at the bottom of it all, it will put an end to this particular brand of purgatory." Geoffrey told himself the night he packed. "If I see with my own eyes that another man has got her now, it may be worse, but at least it won't be this. I shall not come back from the Midi until I see them. Somewhere we are bound to meet. And if I find she isn't happy after all, something is bound to happen. . . ."

"I wonder what," mused Geoffrey, "if the novelist who never for the life of him would be able to help sitting in the stalls, watching his own performance on the stage, and who knew it?" And I wonder what sort of a background Fate will arrange for when we do meet?"

This growing up business is not any logical, sequent, straightforward affair. Often the growing human creature, having leapt forward a whole stage in his development does not immediately proceed. He doubles on his tracks, presently he seems to have lost ground.

After the moment on the balcony when Percival Arthur Fitzroy (returned to his home shortly before dawn after his baptism by air) had shown the face and manner of a young man of 20 or more, he went to bed, sank into a profound sleep that lasted for nearly 11 hours, and woke up, back on the plane of his gutter-imp personality and showing the face and manner of a young child of 10 or less.

He had taken a breathless half hour to relate the epic flip to his uncle, Rex, serious and conciliatory had adopted the line of "Yes, as it's turned out, old man, it's quite all right, but look here, next time let us know what you are up to, please."

Percival Arthur, nodding, gabbled on his tale of the Moth that had come down in the big field above the tennis courts, whether he Percival Arthur, who had been the first to sight her, had fled. He had found her, the Moth (all black and silver and shapely to look upon) being tended by the young man whose name Percival Arthur had not caught, and to whom he referred reverentially as This Pilot.

With him he had passed the time of day. Evidently ingratiatingly, for presently This Pilot remarked, "Well, I am off to Corsica now. It's only about an hour and a half. Care to come along across? Good. Nip in."

Leaving his stomach on the ground, Percival Arthur expressed his intention of triumphant, gleeful dread, Percival Arthur had nipped in to the passenger's seat in the cockpit and had been swept up to Corsica.

"Decent. You can't think how decent one feels, right up there," he said to Joy, to whom he had thus condensed his maiden flight. "You can see to the bottom of the bay in spots, you'd think anyone could swim over to the islands, and my hair has been blown into a permanently backward position!" He had explained that he had told This Pilot it didn't matter how he (Percival Arthur) got back, "and so it didn't; I didn't care what happened along as I went!"—and they had lingered for a day in Corsica's Isle of Beauty, had seen all over Ajaccio, and had been shown the house, the room where Napoleon first drew breath (it would appear upon three levels at once). They had gone over those government stables to see those gorgeous Arab horses, and This Pilot had taken Percival Arthur to lunch with some English people he knew in a house all locked up at the other side of the town, and then they had flown on to see those red rocks at Piana and there they had had dinner with some Corsican people. This Pilot knew "O, forgotten sounds of music, of risotto and vin rosse de Corse I had, divine pink stuff!" and then it had been late and they had flown back and landed nearby in a field in the light of some car lamps, and This Pilot (the boy's saga wound up presently) would, of course, have brought him all the way home only Percival Arthur knew he, This Pilot, was going on to supper with some French people he knew in Nice, ladies and things, and so Percival Arthur had said goodnight and thanks most awfully and had legged it along the Promenade des Amis and all the way home from Nice because he hadn't any money on him and had wriggled through the garden railings of Mon Repos and got through to Mon Plaisir and thought he could get into the house somehow without waking everybody and then Uncle Rex had called out and that was that, as the ancients said.

The escapee had been his life's high light. Perhaps it would remain so for those young eyes that had been thus dazzled for the first time. Why must the grown mind persuade itself that adult life brings lower enjoyment than that tasted in the early teens, when every sense is keenly fresh to fresh delight? (Delight that must be paid for by boredom more profound than the adult—broken in to "the long littleness of life"—is called upon to suffer.)

Today's doing seemed perforce so tame, so stale! Before yesterday it would have been an event that Percival Arthur's friend the count was being tutored over into Italy for the day by other friends and had given over his Alpha-Romeo and his American chauffeur, Manley, to Percival Arthur, who was to have a driving lesson high up on the Corniche ("bully practice," said Manley), and had planned to come back by way of Monaco.

"I want to look at the aquarium—the 'Europe's super-aquarium,' supposed to be. Wish I were going again, instead. Still, better than nothing. You come with me, Joy?"

Plane Rushing New Radio Models to City Is Expected To Land Here This Afternoon

Participating in a nation-wide radio-air "round-up" designed to centralize hundreds of planes at the Cincinnati factory for the purpose of lighting serial delivery of new Crosley receiving sets, a plane representing the Gilham Electric Company, state distributor for Crosley, and local retail dealers, left Candler field Wednesday morning.

The plane, piloted by Doug Davis, is scheduled to return to the Atlanta airport this afternoon with the new Crosley sets. Its use, together with employment of planes representing distributors and dealers throughout the country, is said to be the first instance of its kind in which radio has utilized planes for delivery of its products.

The plane was chartered by P. C. Gilham, president of the Gilham Electric Company. A representative gathering of Crosley dealers here was on hand at Candler field to bid adieu to the ship and its occupants.

The new Crosley model, scheduled to create intense and widespread radio interest, will be placed on display immediately after its arrival in the airport this afternoon in the windows of the Gilham Electric Company.

It will be presented Friday night at 81 Decatur theater in a midnight riot for white persons only, has been heralded as the best colored show on the road today. Manager Tom Bailey stated that the show had played for two weeks in many large cities, with four midnight shows for white persons. Dancing, singing, comedy bits and instrumental numbers are included on the program.

COURT RULES TODAY ON SLICER DEMURRER
 Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore today will rule on a demurrer to the pending indictment against J. S. Slicer, former president of the defunct Colonial Trust Company, filed and argued Tuesday by his counsel, Walter T. Collier and Ben Conyers, after the court had refused to grant a motion for postponement when the case was called for trial. Slicer is charged with embezzlement in connection with the failure of his bank in 1926.

The true bill now pending against Slicer is an "omnibus" indictment and contains 14 counts, including all of the state's accusations against the former banker. It was returned May 24 of this year after all of the other indictments against him had been nullified following a decision of the United States supreme court in the case of W. D. Manley, also a former banker whose conviction on technicalities which also had convicted Slicer was reversed.

Should Judge Moore today sustain the defense demurrer, Slicer will be immediately reintroduced and brought to trial. Assistant Solicitor General John Hudson said Tuesday night.

"The move of Slicer's lawyers merely is to obtain more time when in reality they have had more than two years to prepare for this trial," Hudson said.

Arguments for and against the demurrer consumed both morning and afternoon sessions in Judge Moore's court Tuesday. They were not concluded when adjournment was taken at 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning.

In arguing the demurrer Mr. Collier and Mr. Conyers attempted to prove that Mr. Slicer was being deprived of his constitutional rights by the state including all of the charges against him in a single indictment.

"We are ready to stand trial on any specific charge the state may lodge against our client," Mr. Conyers said, "but we do not want the prosecution to bundle up a bunch of charges, hurl them at us and hope to convict our client on general principles."

BY THE DIAL TWISTER

Edwin Carver, noted motion picture producer-director, will address a nationwide radio audience tonight as guest speaker in the Palmolive Hour to be broadcast over WSB and the N. B. C. coast-to-coast system at 7:30 P. M.

Carver, who makes his films for United Artists stars, has directed Mary Garden, Alla Nazimova, Mary Astor and many other film favorites, and was the "discoverer" of Dolores Del Rio.

He has just returned from Hollywood after completing a new picture, "Evangeline," and brings back some very definite ideas about the rigid requirements for aspirants to the "talkies."

He will discuss the subject of beauty and its relation to the silver screen in his broadcast address.

The special vocal arrangement of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" made by Frank Black composer-accompanist, and leader of the Revelers quartet, will be sung by that group with Black himself at the piano during the broadcast.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.
9-14-28

UNTIL THE FIRST PART OF THE 19TH CENTURY, THE MAKING OF PAPER WAS ENTIRELY A HAND ART. FIRST, LINEN RAGS WERE TORN INTO SHREDS AND SOAKED IN WATER. THEN THE WET SCRAPS WERE PUT INTO A MORTAR AND POUNDED TO A PULP. THE PULP NEXT WAS STIRRED IN A VAT OF WATER UNTIL ALL THE FIBERS IN THE PARTICLES OF CLOTH HAD BEEN SEPARATED.

SCOPED FROM THE VAT, THE WET PULP WAS MOLDED INTO THE FORM OF SHEETS ON WIRE SCREENS. AFTER THE EXCESS WATER HAD RUN OFF, THE SHEET OF PULP WAS TRANSFERRED FROM THE SCREEN TO A THIN FELT MAT.

The Story of American Industry.
Paper Making—(Part III)—Paper Making in the Middle Ages.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

©1928, MIDDLE NEWSPAPER, SUBSCRIBED

PILES OF SHEETS, PROTECTED BY FELT MATS, WERE THEN PUT INTO A PRESS AND SQUEEZED TIGHTLY. THIS PROCESS MASHED THE PULP FIBERS TOGETHER TO FORM A SOLID SHEET OF PAPER.

THE SHEETS WERE THEN TAKEN FROM BETWEEN THE FELT MATS, PRESSED AGAIN TO GIVE THEM A FINISH, AND HUNG UPON LINES TO DRY. THIS METHOD OF MAKING PAPER WAS USED UNTIL THE 19TH CENTURY. THE PAPER PRODUCED IN THIS WAY HAD A MOTTLED APPEARANCE, DUE TO THE MANY COLORS OF THE CLOTH SCRAPS FROM WHICH IT WAS MADE.

ANTI-LONG FACTION STARTS IN LOUISIANA

$100,000 Fund Is Raised To Fight Forces of Governor.

New Orleans, June 11.—(AP)—Citizens from all sections of the state and of varied political factions organized the Constitutional League of Louisiana here today to fight the forces of Governor Huey P. Long, who recently escaped an impeachment trial in Baton Rouge.

John M. Parker, former governor and Bull Moose, vice presidential candidate, was hoisted to the head of the organization as president and an initial battle cry, the old campaigner shouted that this would be no "pussyfooting" campaign as this was a crisis and it would be a fight to a finish. He called for contributions and $100,000 was subscribed within 15 minutes.

Purposes of the league were listed thus:

"To bring the state government of Louisiana back to respect for the constitution and the laws of the state."

"To fight the recall of members of the legislature who have stood by the oaths of office in opposing Huey P. Long and his raids upon the state treasury and upon state institutions."

"To fight all future attempts by Long to seize control of state institutions in violation of the constitution and the law."

"To protect the state and its institutions from further depredations by the Long administration."

Former Governor J. Y. Sanders, the "greatest menace since the corrupt beggar days," and nominated Mr. Parker amid cheers.

In accepting the presidency, Mr. Parker expressed willingness to come out of retirement and share this part of the burden.

"Let it be a pussyfoot fight," he demanded, "let it be a fight in the open, a fight to the finish. Let there be no quarter for this enemy of our state and its institutions. This is a serious and I am ready to shoulder my part of the fighting."

the Red Bank, where it was seen by Ryan, both of Red Bank. None the speed of the plane carried it through the roof and attic of the LETTER MAILED IN 1914 GOES 32 MILES IN FIFTEEN YEARS

Lakeland, Fla., June 11.—(AP)—
Mrs. J. L. Skipper, doesn't believe the federal mail service has improved since the days of the stage coach. On the other hand she has reason to think it worse.

The reason is a postcard mailed in Tampa July 5, 1914, received. Its destination here May 26, 1929, according to the cancelling stamps.

The card was 15 years on the 32-mile journey. It was mailed by a relative of Mrs. Skipper who died three years ago.
